

More players. Better field days.

Bunkr helps paintball players find fields, share when they plan to play, and coordinate with other players before game day.

Live web app: field discovery on a desktop. Field listings use Google Maps information.

For players

Find a field, choose a day and arrival window, and see who else plans to come. Share whether you are a Walk-On, Team, or Group and the type of play you want.

For field owners

See the interest players are sharing for a particular field and day. Use the pilot to explore whether daily counts and community coordination could help your scene.

Get started in minutes.

Create an account, find your field, and save it so you can return quickly.

01 / CREATE YOUR ACCOUNT

Live mobile web login.

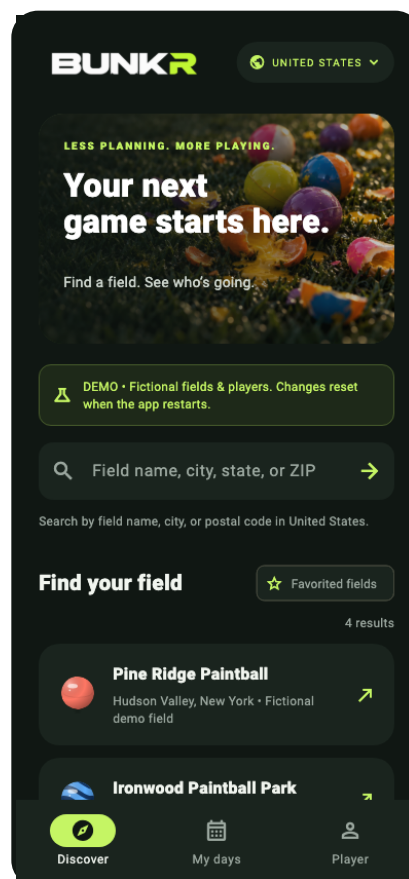

Sign up and sign in

Open app.bunkrpb.com, choose Create an account, and enter a unique username, email, and password. Use the same account on the web and mobile apps.

Use your own device

Remember me keeps your session available on a personal device. Sign out when using a shared device.

02 / FIND YOUR FIELD

Illustrative discovery screen. Fields shown are demo data.

Search and save

Choose your country, then search by field name, city, or postal / ZIP code. Open a result and tap the star to favorite it. The Favorited fields toggle shows saved fields.

Set a useful default

In Player, save a private postal / ZIP code to start searches near you. You can still change the search location.

Make a plan. Read the day.

Open a field, choose the day, and tap I'm playing this day. Keep plans accurate if your visit changes.

03 / CHECK IN

Set your visit

Choose Walk-On, Team, or Group. Teams add a name, ranking, and player count; groups add their size and can add a name. Pick Speedball, Woodsball, or Mix, then set dates and arrival / departure times. Times use the field's local timezone.

Teams: Rankings are self-reported: Pro, Semi Pro, D1-D5, or Unranked. Tap the daily team count to see the teams listed in ranking order.

Counts include all team and group players. Older check-ins without a preference are counted as Mix.

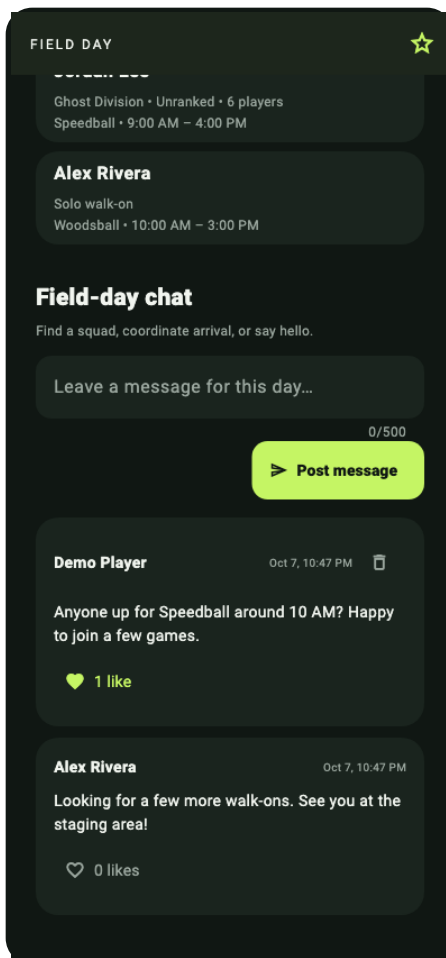

Demo counts: 7 expected players across 2 check-ins.

Understand the totals

Expected players include team and group sizes. The attendance list shows the people who created check-ins, rather than a separate account for every teammate. Style counts include those party sizes too. Use My days to reopen, edit, or cancel your plan.

Coordinate together. Help us improve.

The pilot is an invitation to try real workflows and tell us what makes planning a field day easier.

A conversation for each day

Post arrival plans or matchup ideas in the field-day chat. Tap the heart to like a message. Likes show reactions; they are not read receipts.

Plans, not reservations. Check-ins do not guarantee attendance, entry, field availability, or a booked session. Players should contact the field for fees, opening hours, and reservations.

Get a feel for other players

Tap an attendee's username to see the basic details they chose to share: name, age, years playing, and/or ranking. These details are optional and self-reported. Email and postal / ZIP code stay private.

A simple field-owner pilot

Create a normal player account and look up your field. Check its listing, browse upcoming days, and invite a small group of regulars to try planning a real visit. The current app has no dedicated field-owner dashboard or booking management.

What feedback helps most?

Finding the field: Can you locate it by name and location? Are the Google listing details accurate?

Planning a visit: Are times, team / group sizes, and play interests easy to enter and understand?

Reading the day: Do counts, ranked teams, profiles, and chat help players coordinate?

Reporting an issue: Send the field name, date, device / browser, steps taken, and a screenshot to the person who invited you.
